FREW & CAMPBELL, [Entered at the Postoffice at Wheeling, W. Va., a WHEELING, W. VA., NOVEMBER 4, 1882.

The Washington Star says that the ex periment of the employment of the bicycle by the letter carriers of that city for the delivery and collection of mail matter seem to be a success, and it is likely that its utilization for the delivery of newspapers in suburban localities will follow. A Cincinnati daily is served regularly to subcribers in the town of Greenville, O, b carriers mounted upon bicycles.

Vennor for November After having made a dismal failure in his October predictions Vennor has summoned up enough courage to put out the following prediction for this month.

1 to 5—A good amount of rain probable, with a frosty snap about the 3d or 4th, and scattered snow flurries through western and northern sections scattered snow flarries through western and northern sections.

"5 to 12—The neighborhood of the 7th probably stormy with rain, sleet or snow, also 11th and 12th wet and dreary.

"12 to 19—Probably fair in most sections up to 14th or 15th. After these dates very stormy weather, with heavy snow-falls, will prevail over a large portion of the finited States and Canada. Snow probable in Arkansas and Missouri; storms at St. Louis. Cold in Northwest; cold and stormy in Scotland and England; 18th and 19th very stormy weather and snow-falls genstormy weather and snow-falls gen

"19 to 20—A wintry week generally. Cold snap due about 20th and 21st. Frosts far to the southward, neighborhood of the 24th and 25th snow-storms, and in New Foundland gulf gales.

"26 to 30—High winds in northern sections entry of week. Storms Scotch coast and generally on Atlantic. Cold weather in Northwest, winter weather in Canada. Stormy up to end of month on Atlantic. Prevalent winds northwesterly and westerly."

As is well known, the editor of the Parkersburg Journal has had two libel suits and two twins born to him-the two latter just in time to round up the campaign. He seems to be proud of both. especially of the twins, and now that he has no Gibson to write about he writes about the twins. His editorial references have touched the tender parental feelings of our grapevine man, in the fourth story and he has pulled off the wall of the attr the following "pome," and sent it down the rope with his compliments to the edithe rope with its companients to the lor of the Journal:

It is some relief to know that, whateve the result, the elections for the "off year will soon be over, and that the newspaper will hereafter contain something else be sides figures as to probable results and appeals to the public to do its duty and ote the ticket." Thirty-four States of the Union-all but five of the whole number -are to vote next Tuesday. Those that have already voted are Maine, Vermont West Virginia Ohio and Oregon. State elec tions have already been held in Kentucky Alabama and Georgia, but their Con gressional elections, (under the Novembe law of Congress) must be held next Tuesday. (West Virginia got a special ac Congressmen in October this year). In the five States referred to, in which Congressmen have been elected, 32 memthat they are equally divided between the Cent. O. Div. two parties thus far, but now comes the election of 203 more next Tuesday-a number that is curiously and exactly equal to the whole membership of the present House of Representatives.

of Congress passed allowing her to vote for

As to how these elections are likely to result is the merest matter of conjecture and depends altogether on whose table you read. Taking the situation as it stands in Pennsylvania, New York, New Hampshire and Colorado—where the Repub-licans are divided, and fighting each other -and taking also the fact that the liquo question is before the people of Indiana, as it was in Ohio, and we should say that the chances are in favor of the Democrats securing control of the next Congress. This probability, however, may be offset by un-expected gains in the South, as in Virginia, North Carolina, and Arkansas. In Texas the Republicans have made no nomina tions, but expect to vote for Independen candidates.

There are an unusual number of constitu tional amendments to be voted on. New York has two, one providing for free canals and the other for additional Supreme Court Judges. Nebraska has one for wom an suffrage. Illinois has one giving the Illinois and Michigan canal to the genera Government-a part of the Hennepin canal scheme-and another authorizing the expenditure of $500,000 more on th new State House, Wisconsin has one affecting the registration laws and the election of county officers, and another perfecting its biennia system, while Michigan has one raising the salaries of circuit judges from $1,500 to $2,500 a year. Of these the canal amend ment in New York is of course importan to the commerce of the country, while the woman suffragists have made so active a campaign in Nebraska that he vote on their amendment there will be looked to with good deal of interest.

Humbugged Again.

I saw so much said about the merits of Hop Bitters, and my wife, who was always doctoring and never well, teased me so urgently to get her some, I concluded to be humbugged again; and I am glad I did, for in less than two months' use of the Bitters my wife was cured, and see has remained so for eighteen months since. I like such humbugging.—H. T., St. Paul.—Pioneer Press.

In New York so many ment have joined the Moderation Society and pledged them-selves not to drink before dinner that the 120 clock dinner hour of our grandfathers is again becoming popular.—Philadelphia Ners.

"No, papa," she said, "I do not wish to marry yet. What I want is a man who does not drink, smoke, chew, smuff, go out nights, gamble, overeat, &c.; in short a man with no vices, and one who is always good." "My daughter" said Mr. Dusen-berry, "you are a stranger here, heaven is your home."

A Chicago Democrat recently passed in his checks in Colorado and a chance achis checks in Colorado and a chance ac-quaintance brought the sad news to his wife. "So you were with my poor husband when he died, were you?" "Yes, madam, I was with him. I gave him a drink of water just before he died." "Did he take the water?" "Yes." "Then he was not my husband."
